

The Indians found that there were several more passengers, most conspicuous amongst them being a bridal couple, ah, and who were so sweet and so nice, and furnished a merry topic of conversation for ladies & gentlemen. —

On seeing the sky this morning it passed peacefully to land for the air was warmer and purer. — We all regretted our arrival on these plains. Several found us shortly after 10 a.m. and by 11 we were being hurried along at a good rate to Lesmobs. — At Oracequille we dined. The heat grew in intensity till Lesmobs gave it the chimney, we were an hour in the latter city where I purchased a bicycle for Sulew, being the permission consolation to him for remaining at home, as I had wired Marie to bring all the children to Satehupicist. Max enjoyed the best day here seeing King St. re., By the time we again reached the camp Marie was about overcome by the heat but the application of cold water to her head revived her. When arrived at Salt shortly after 7 P.M. a carriage awaited us & we all (7) drove together to Preston, glad to reach home, but wishing for the cool air of Port Arthur. — Sulew was pleased with his bicycle, but unfortunately Oskais leg just lacked sufficient to disable him from riding it, altho' he has grown considerable this summer; I may say too that he feels very proud that he has learned to swim now. — The usual narratives of trips re were made, on this occasion I was relieved to a great extent as Marie had been along, for what to her was new or a novelty has long ago been commonplace to me in <sup>my</sup> many years travels.
